

Murder Charge Filed Against Fulton Man

Charge of first degree murder was filed today in Hempstead Circuit Court against Earl (Cool) Clayton, 50-year-old Fulton community fisherman following the fatal shooting Wednesday night of Charles Ray Christman, 21, of near Hope.

Sheriff Jimmy Cook said the charge was filed today by Prosecuting Attorney Travis Mathis and bond was fixed at $5,000 pending trial.

Clayton was jailed shortly after the shooting which occurred on the bank of Red River at Fulton. Investigating Officers said Christman was fishing along the river bank during the afternoon and up into the night. Sheriff Cook said Clayton told officers that he thought Christman was trying to steal his boat and motor which was docked nearby.

Shepilov Is Ousted in Red Shakeup

By WHITMAN BASSOW

MOSCOW (UP) — The Soviet Union dropped Dmitri T. Shepilov as foreign minister today after only nine months in office — the first time in 15 years that a Soviet minister has been ousted.

The action was taken following secret meetings of the Soviet Communist party central committee Wednesday and Thursday.

Shepilov, 51, former editor of the Communist party organ Pravda, replaced V. M. Molotov only last June. The new foreign minister was first deputy to both men. Shepilov now becomes one of the eight secretaries of the Communist party central committee under Party Chief Nikit as Khrushchev.

The official Tass News agency announcement of Shepilov's removal gave no reason for the sudden government change. It said only that he was "released" in connection with a transfer to other work.

Nikolai S. Patolichev was named to take over Gromyko's former spot as first deputy foreign minister.

Shepilov generally was associated with Soviet policy in the Middle East. It was his visit to Cairo while still editor of Pravda which preceded agreements for shipment of Communist arms to Egypt.

The new foreign minister, Gromyko, is well known to the West. He spoke for the Soviet Union in many of the major United Nations debates in New York. He also has attended most of the international conferences since World War II.

Bill Would Create Battlefield Setup

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Prairie Grove Battlefield Commission would be created by a bill which was introduced in the Arkansas Senate today by Sen. Clifton Wade of Fayetteville.

The 5-man commission, whose members would be appointed to staggered terms, would have the authority to acquire and develop land "adjacent to the present Prairie Grove battleground" in Washington County.

The commission could turn the Civil War battlefield land over to the federal or the state government to be used as a national or state park.

The bill said the commission could acquire any land it seems necessary to develop "as a proper memorial to the officers and men of the Confederacy that fought in such a battle."

The Fabulous Imposter Is Caught Again

AUGUSTA, Maine (MA) — A personable young schoolteacher who quickly won the affections of a Down East island community was identified by state police yesterday as a fantastic imposter who once posed as a Canadian surgeon in Korea.

Ferdinand Waldo DeMara, 35, a native of Lawrence, Mass., was held on a warrant charging cheating by false pretenses.

The charge stemmed from his role as Martin Daniel Goddard, an instructor of "superior qualifications" who taught North Haven youngsters English, Latin and French, instituted recreation programs, organized a Sea Scout unit and won praise from his colleagues.

House Group in Slow Start on Cutting Budget

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON, UP) — The House Appropriations Committee got off to a slow start today in its announced effort to cut heavily into President Eisenhower's record 71.8 billion peace time to get.

Approving the first regular appropriation bill of the current Congress, the committee trimmed $80,000,000 off administration requests for $3,065,291,000 for the treasury, Post Office and U. S. Tax Court in the 12th months starting July 1. The cuts amounted to about 2 per cent.

Committee members have been clamoring for substantial slashes in the budget. They explained somewhat sorrowfully that first money bill did not offer a fair test for their efforts since the agencies involved simply aren't subject to much cutting.

The committee imposed minor cuts throughout the bill. But in every major category the appropriations provided were bigger than for the current fiscal year.

The committee — as in the past — viewed with alarm the continued deficit operation of the Post Office. It renewed its recommendation that postal rates be raised to levels "more appropriate to the costs."

The administration wants first class mail boosted from 3 to 5 cents an ounce along with other proposed rate increases.

Among major items in today's bill:

Treasury: $891,467,000, a cut of $22,364,000 from the budget request but $42,397,150 more than this year.

Post Office: $3,192,000,000, 58,000, less than requested but an $27,600,000 increase over this year.

Tax court: $1,460,000, just what was asked and up $95,000 from this year.

The committee's report said $191 million of the $250,052,150 increase over the current fiscal year was caused by such things as government pay raises approved by Congress.

The rest, it said, resulted from "the multitudinous increases in physical volume of work (mail to be carried, currency and securities issued, ships and persons to be inspected, etc.), which inexorably follow the increase in our nation's population and its economic wealth."

VFW Plans Dinner for State Leaders

Indonesia Premier Is in Trouble

Sastreamidjo's government, re-sulting from the country's first general elections, took office in March 1956.

Should the Nationalist party and Sukarno insist on keeping Sastreamidjo as premier, the Orthodox Moslem, Indonesian Islamic, Christian and Catholic parties say they will walk out and force the government's downfall.

None of the Indonesian political parties holds nearly enough of the 257 parliamentary seats to form a government alone.

No one would predict flatly that the government would actually fall. Indonesian politicians have in the past been known to make last-minute agreements to gain maneuverability.

Nasser Told U. S. Sticking to Policy

By ANGELO NATALE

CAIRO (AP) — Informed sources said today U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare has told President Nasser that the United States is sticking to its policy of non-interference in the Arab-Israeli dispute.

He told him the reported two-point proposals by Secretary of State Dulles represent nothing new in American policy, the informants said.

In a meeting with Nasser yesterday Hare reportedly explained that the United States still supports U. N. resolutions demanding unconditional Israeli withdrawal.

As Dulles' proposals are reported in the press here, however, they appear to represent a compromise by the Americans which the Cairo press and officials have called "rewarding Israeli aggression."

The government-backed newspaper Al-Gumhuriya warned that the Arab League "may lead to World War III."

Making a bitter attack on Secretary of State Dulles' proposal for U. S. support of free navigation through the gulf, Al-Gumhuriya said the United States should consider "the exorbitant price she is paying to gain Israel's friendship."

100,000 in Pulaski to Get Polio Shots

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A plan to inoculate 100,000 persons in Pulaski County against polio on a mass basis — at a nominal cost — was revealed yesterday.

The Pulaski County Medical Society said 20 polio shot centers will be set up at specified 2-day periods in March, April and November to give residents 20 years and older all three shots for maximum protection.

Doctors, wives and nurses will help staff the centers. Each person will be charged $1 per polio shot. The program will begin March 7.

Explosion Shakes Negro Section of Clinton, Tenn.

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — A dynamite-laden suitcase exploded in the heart of Clinton's Negro section last night, wrecking a restaurant and slightly injuring a Negro woman and baby.

The dynamite charge, which witnesses said was placed by a white man who raced away in a car, also heavily damaged other Negro-owned property.

The blast was the area's eighth, and by far the most destructive, since Clinton High School admitted 12 Negro students under a federal court order last fall.

In the absence of concrete clues, however, officers still declined to speculate as to whether integration of the previously all-white school is connected with the series of explosions.

Police said the suitcase, which contained "several" sticks of dynamite, was placed on a concrete slab across the street from a restaurant where several Negroes were eating. The Negroes said they saw a white man stop, leave the suitcase, jump back into his car and speed away.

The blast caved in the ceiling and inner walls of the basement restaurant.

The woman, identified as Emma Simmons, suffered a knot on the head when hit by falling plaster; the 11-month-old girl, Jacqueline Galtner, was cut by flying glass. Neither was believed seriously hurt.

Also damaged was a nearby sandwich shop owned by Steve Williams, father of a 21-year-old senior suspended from the integrated school on grounds he struck a white boy and threatened others with a knife Feb. 4.

Jim Loggans, reported for the Clinton Courier-News, said the plate glass window was blown from the front of the sandwich shop. He said Williams' home was one of about 25 or 30 Negro homes in which window glass was shattered. All were within a 100-yard radius of the blast.

To cars owned by Negroes were damaged.

"They're scared, they're bewildered and they're mad," Loggans said of the Negroes. "One of them said he's going back to North Carolina. One man said, 'I can't understand it. We're living in the United States but we've been intimidated and threatened until we can't stand much more.'"

Bomber Makes Safe Landing in Georgia

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — A B-47 bomber landed safely at Hunter Air Force Base today after crewmen put out flames in the tail section. One man who had bailed out in the Atlantic was picked up.

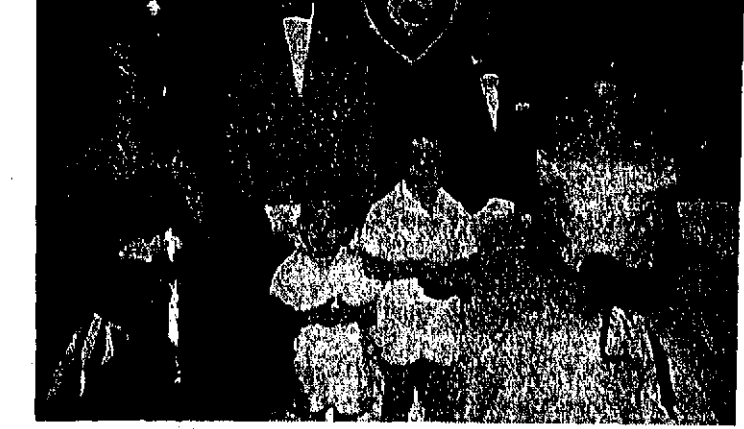

The bomber, on a training flight from Hunter, caught fire some 180 miles east of Savannah and the crew was unconscious from lack of oxygen as the headed the plane for Savannah.

Four men were aboard. Capt. Charles E. Steward, an observer on the flight, bailed out before the plane turned back. The Navy reported he was picked up by a merchant ship.

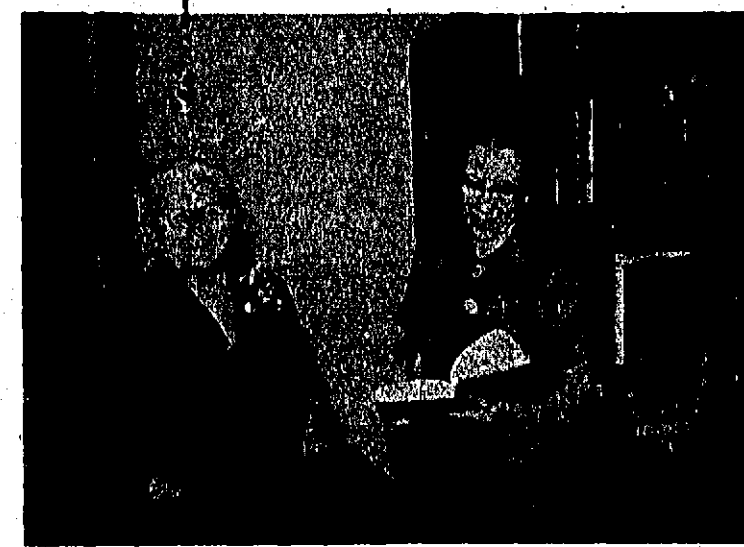

Other men on the flight were Capt. James H. Feintz, Jr., and Lt. Alfred R. Rumer. Rumer passed out from lack of oxygen but recovered shortly before the plane landed.

Public Hearing on Segregation Bill Is Voted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A public hearing on four bills designed to help maintain racial segregation was requested in the Arkansas Senate today.

As soon as Sen. Charles F. (Rip) Smith of West Memphis took the floor to call up the first of the measures, he was questioned as to whether a public hearing would be advisable.

Sen. Guy Jones of Conway said he was "a little disturbed about the intent of the bills" and added, "All of the objections I have received have been from white people."

To questions from Jones and Sen. C. E. Yingling of Searcy about a public hearing, Smith said:

"The very same issues were raised in the House and you have had the bills several days. . . A public hearing would be designed to influence the vote of the Senate. That is the only reason a public hearing is ever held on any subject. The public hearing would not change any votes and it would be a waste of time."

There was vigorous applause from two sections of the gallery when Sen. Fred Stafford of Marked Tree asked, "Didn't the people have a public hearing last fall?" It was referring to the heavy endorsement given to three segregation measures in the November general election.

There was also vigorous applause from a third section of the Senate after Sen. Ellis Fagan of Little Rock made a strong plea for a public hearing.

"I know nothing about what we are about to do," Fagan said. He said he would not vote against or for the bills because he was not sure what they would accomplish.

"Integration or segregation is not the issue," Fagan said. "You are talking to the colored people: 'You will not be given your day in court.'"

"You are doing something to tear down the good name of this state. There is no statehood to this sort of thing. You are stepping down to the lowest level you can get."

Yingling and Jones also made speeches and called for a public hearing and Sen. Artie Gregory of Little Rock requested more time to study the bills.

A motion by Smith yesterday to make the measures a special order of business for today failed by two votes of getting the necessary two-thirds majority. The vote was 16-8, somewhat surprising considering the ease with which the bills cleared the House Wednesday.

New Loyalty Oath Bill Introduced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Tongue firmly in cheek, Rep. Bryan McCullen of Clay County today introduced a bill to "implement" application of a loyalty oath for public employees which the Legislature has approved.

McCullen was one of six representatives who voted against the Senate bill Tuesday when it was passed by the House and sent to Gov. Orval Faubus.

McCullen's measure would set up a 7-member commission that would not be required to take a loyalty oath to administer the act to a long list of specified employees ranging from school janitors to game wardens.

An executive secretary would be employed at a salary of not less than $10,000 a year and there would be an enforcement agent in every county at a salary of not less than $5,500 a year.

The measure concludes with a "no emergency" clause which sets out that because Arkansans have been noted for their loyalty and because of adequate state and federal laws to deal with Communist activity, the proposed act shall not be effective until Dec. 1, 1959.

THE BEST CROWD TO FOLLOW IS THE CROWD GOING TO CHURCH

There's No Evil There Except What You Carry With You

A big old-fashioned water wheel! Round and round it turns and oh, how slowly! Sure, water below the wheel has gone but water above the wheel still possesses potential power that may influence the lives of millions. It is that way with human life, too. The gigantic wheel keeps turning while life keeps passing. "The wheels of the gods grind slowly but they grind exceedingly well." One generation comes while another goes... 3,600 souls go over the wheel every hour... 86,000 every day. Stop right where you are! Think of your opportunity! Act immediately! You have only a little moment to make your contribution to the sum total of human goodness. Just what are you going to do about it, sir? Perhaps you should join the increasing millions who are finding solution to their problems through regular church attendance. You may also find a better way to expend your potential for good.

We know that you will give Mr. Rettig the fine support and friendship which we have enjoyed.

Due to the friendships we have made and our firm belief in the future of this city we will continue to make Hope our home.

President Okays Plan Revision
BY ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP) President Eisenhower has asked the Senate to "act promptly and approve" a military-economic plan to help Middle Eastern nations avoid Communist control. He called for "a decisive vote."

Accepting Democratic revisions in his original Middle East resolution, Eisenhower said through his press secretary James C. Hagerty that he feels the revised version "is intended and designed to accomplish the purposes" he sought. The Senate is to start debate Monday on the legislation, which would back up Eisenhower's plan to use U. S. armed forces if necessary to repel over Communist attack on a Middle Eastern na-

DOROTHY DIX

This Wife Solved In-Law Problem By Speaking Up

Dear Dorothy Dix: When we married, my mother-in-law practically took over the household. My husband had to account to her for his time and money. I had to submit schedules, babies' formulae and was under complete domination. My husband drank heavily and never brought home a full pay envelope.

I prayed hard for the wisdom to handle the situation, and suddenly it came to me. In a nice way, I simply told his family that henceforth I would run my own home, would handle the finances, and would consult no one. I lost all fear of them, and with that, won their respect.

Even my husband regards me differently. He stopped drinking, brings home his money, has advanced at his job, and we get along fine without friction. The in-laws are pleasant and friendly. Everything is rosy because I finally woke up and spoke up.

M.C.: This is about the only way your problem could have been solved.

Most people want the approval and love of others. Most people can win it through charm, kindness, sympathy and a sincere desire to give and receive love. Others, a small fortunately, cannot be outgoing in affection. Determined, however, to win it, they try to do so by force and fear.

The more one tries to please the people, the more one has to give—they are absolutely insatiable. As soon as their victims realize this point, and show signs of rebellion, the tyrant is licked. Curiously enough, this is the time when the despot grudgingly gives first respect, then admiration and finally love to the former yes man! Glad you realized this in time, and I hope others follow your example.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My daughter recently received a letter, supposedly from a young man she likes very much. Actually, a soror sister had her mother write the note. Since the truth came out, my daughter is very upset. Should I approach the mother and get the matter straightened out?

MRS. T.L.: If there are still threads to be untangled, by all means see the mother. Then let the thing drop. Arguing or discussing the situation will just make it worse.

AHD Increase Hourly Wages
LITTLE ROCK (AP) Minimum hourly wages for state Highway Department employees paid on an hourly scale were increased by the Highway Commission today "to meet the rising cost of living."

A department spokesman said the commission establishes hourly rates and the department fixes individual wages according to merit. Under the increases effective March 1, hourly wages for unskilled workers were raised from 65 cents—$1 to $1-$1.10; intermediate workers from $1-$1.30 to $1-$1.40; skilled from $1.30-$1.50 to $1.40-$1.75; and highly skilled workers, including mechanics, from $1.50-$1.65 to $1.60-$1.85.

The action was taken at a special commission meeting called for the purpose.

hell and from "the wrath to come."

This does not mean that salvation is less a matter of future welfare in a life to come. I think, rather, that it arises from a sort of underlying conviction that life here is a sort of probation, and its quality here is related to the future.

This does not mean that man claims his place in heaven by what he is. The deepest quality of a devout soul will always be, "God be merciful to me, a sinner."

But I do think it does mean that, despite the sincerity of the repentant cry of the dying thief on the cross, so-called bedside, last-hour repentances, whatever their place in future salvation, have been a poor substitute for a life of seeking to know and do the will of God.

So, in a sense, the present world emphasis on religion has much to commend it, though Jesus commended being in the world, but not of the world (John 17:14-16). In any case, I am sure that over the years there has been a trend toward more emphasis upon religion in the here and now.

In the days of my youth, religious songs were more in evidence than the great hymns of the church. These songs expressed predominantly the religious emotions and experiences of the time, and they had to do chiefly with "otherworldliness."

Most popular of all, I think was "In the Sweet Bye-and-Bye," a rather rollicking tune, which offered great opportunity for deep basses.

It was as vague in a way as the more recent "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," but it had some genuine sentiment about "meeting, singing, and reigning" in the "land where the saved never die."

"Shall We Gather at the River?" and similar songs emphasized the joys of reunion in a better land, while an equal emphasis was on the blessings of rest.

Francis Grierson, the eminent pianist improviser, who grew up on the American midwest frontier, attributed the emphasis in these religious songs to the hard and exacting conditions of life and work. The hard-pressed and weary found relief in contemplating the blessedness of rest and relief.

It was well that hard-working and hard-driven people should find compensation in the vision of a better world. But I think it is well, also, that under less hard-driven conditions multitudes are finding joy in work, and a religion of present peace and happiness, without, I hope, losing the vision of Jerusalem the Golden.

GSA Abandons Lease Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration says that "when present inflationary pressures in the construction industry recede" the government will resume its lease-purchase program. GSA yesterday announced suspension of the program, which contemplated construction of 37 post offices and federal buildings costing nearly 700 million dollars.

Under the lease-purchase plan, approved by Congress two years ago, the buildings would be erected by private firms or individuals, on federal specifications. The government then would pay the builder over a period of 10 to 25 years.

GSA Administrator Franklin G. Floete, announcing suspension of the program, said the action was in furtherance of President Eisenhower's efforts to battle inflation.

Two months ago, GSA received only six bids for financing and building of eight projects. These six bids were rejected in January. Floete said advertising of bids for various projects would be resumed, after inflationary pressures in the construction industry decline.

TWIN TRACTION...

a Studebaker-Packard FIRST so good other cars will copy it

WHAT IS IT? Twin-Traction Differential gives you new pavement-gripping traction and new safe control impossible with conventional differentials. The secret lies in the fact that the Twin-Traction Differential delivers the major part of the engine's power to the rear wheel with the best traction—instead of the wheel with the poorest traction (as in a conventional differential). The result—roadability that's better in six important ways:

1. In ice, snow or mud, Twin Traction gets you out of spots where cars with conventional differentials would "spin their wheels."
2. In highway driving, it protects against skids that might otherwise occur when one rear wheel hits a slippery spot.
3. On sharp turns, it improves roadability by applying the major driving force to the inside rear wheel. This also tends to compensate for over-steering.
4. On rough or washboard roads, it reduces the rear-end bounce, sidesway or swerve which results from a fast-spinning wheel suddenly hitting the pavement again.
5. When one rear wheel goes off the pavement onto a soft shoulder, Twin Traction directs the driving force to the other rear wheel, assuring safe, positive control.
6. In ordinary driving, Twin Traction cuts tire wear by assuring more positive traction.

Test it, yourself, today. See your Studebaker-Packard Dealer for a demonstration drive!

THE STORY: After Chad Morgan breaks up a gang of cowboys which had been shooting up Pawnee City, the ranch owner offers to pay Joe Jagger for the damage. Jagger settles for half of an estimated amount of $200.

CHAPTER XVII

Joe Jagger appeared. He was frowning when he came in and the frown did not leave his face as he approached the group at the rear of the store.

Jagger focused his eyes on Morgan. "I just had a visit from Pete Mossman. He's paid for the damage his men did." He took a sheaf of greenbacks from his pocket. "Two hundred dollars, but a hundred goes to Andy Pillsbury for the whiskey and mirror."

"A hundred dollars wouldn't pay for the damage to my store," said Harlow Tarbox.

"You won't get a hundred," snapped Jagger. "I was decent of Mossman, paying anything. You've got to expect a certain amount of what happened yesterday."

"Why, Mr. Jagger?" asked Fesler. Jagger glowered at the newspaperman. "I thought we talked this over yesterday."

"We didn't discuss it," retorted Fesler. "You told me your views, but you didn't ask for mine, or let me tell them." He suddenly extended the newspaper proof to Jagger.

Jagger took the newspaper.

Then he read for a moment. "You're not figuring to print this?"

"It goes on the press in an hour."

Jagger had himself under momentary control. He looked around the group. "All right," he said, "you talked me here for a reason. Spill it."

The fiery newspaperman nodded, accepting the assignment. "A group of businessmen in this town have decided that we need law and order in Pawnee City."

"Who?" said Jagger. "Who, besides you three?"

"John Thompson, Oliver Wake-man—others."

"Andy Pillsbury? Did you talk to him?"

"Mr. Pillsbury runs a saloon," said Tarbox.

"I own a saloon," said Jagger. He suddenly pointed an index finger at Chad Morgan. "You haven't said a word, Chad."

"I got in only a few minutes before you did," replied Morgan.

"I'll tell them, then," Jagger drew a deep breath and exhaled it in a rush of wind. "Mind your own business, the bunch of you!"

"This is our business," cried Fesler.

Jagger fixed the newspaperman with a cold eye. "You've been in this town a week, Fesler. You're here because I let you come. I sold you the property in which you're holed up. And I'm carrying your note at the bank."

"Which I'll pay in six months,"

Jagger took the newspaper.

leagues, superiors and the island population.

A Martin Godgart teaches in New York and attended Wagner College there. State police said DeMara had Wagner listed on the Maine teaching certificate they charged he obtained fraudulently.

State Police Detective Millard Nickerson said DeMara gave a "full statement" admitting he was the same man who, as Dr. Joseph C. Carr, served with the Canadian navy and performed delicate surgery despite only elementary medical training.

DeMara, nearly six feet tall and weighing over 250 pounds, told police he went to remote North Haven 12 miles off the Maine coast because of its isolation.

He said he "half and half" expected to be unmasked.

Only a few of the island's 415 residents claimed any suspicion of DeMara, known as "one of the best superintendents the Baptist Sunday school ever had."

Those who did, including Mrs. George Merriam, wife of the island's Baptist minister, said they were alerted because "God-gart talked a lot"—unlike traditionally tight-lipped Yankees.

It was this trait that led one islander to recall a magazine story on DeMara and asked state police to check on "Godgart."

Teacher William Hopkins summed up the fairly general reaction to DeMara's arrest when he said, "I hope he can come but used someone else's name? And all the good he has done with that name must certainly outweigh the bad."

Police said DeMara's career includes simultaneous Army and Navy hitches, resulting in 12 years in a Navy prison for desertion.

He also has masqueraded as a zoology professor at Notre Dame Institute in Alfred, Maine. He studied at De Paul University, attended theology school in Grand Falls, N. B., worked as an accountant at a Houston, Tex., hotel and posed as a doctor of education to gain employment in the Texas state prison system in 1955.

Flying Eraser Gets Girl Compensation

Tulsa, Okla. (AP) A District Court jury yesterday awarded a 16-year-old school girl $30,000 damages for an eye injury caused last year by a flying blackboard eraser in a classroom.

The girl, Patricia Ann Brugg, a music student, had sought $49,500 from six boys who she said had been tossing the erasers while the teacher was out of the room.

A doctor testified the girl lost 80 per cent of the vision in the right eye which cannot be corrected with glasses.

when it's due."

"You hope, because if you don't keep your mouth shut around here, you won't last six months. I started this town and if it needs any government, I'll install it."

"No, Mr. Jagger," said Fesler doggedly. "You can't do that."

"Why not? I own this town—" "Do you?" lashed out Fesler. "I thought the people owned it—the people who bought property from you, Mr. Jagger. Thirty-six of us."

"You're making money!" "Yes, Mr. Jagger," said Buffington quietly, "but what good is money if a man's afraid to step out on the street for fear some drunken cowboy rides him down... or if bullets come through his windows at all hours of the day and night?"

"It won't happen again." "Can you guarantee it?" Jagger exclaimed irascibly. "Of course I can't. These cowboys who come here have been on the trail for six or eight weeks. They've swum rivers, eaten dust and chased longhorns. They've got to have some fun when the trip's over. So they do a little damage. But they bring money to this town—money that you people get from them."

"The saloons get most of it," said Tarbox, then added pointedly. "And none of us own saloons."

"There's no use talking to you people. I'm wasting my time," Jagger headed for the door. No one spoke until the door was closed behind him, then Fesler said to Morgan, "Your sentiments are the same as his, I suppose?"

Buffington said, frowning, "I don't think you can jump to that conclusion."

"Why not? Even though Jagger does all the shouting and keeps talking of his town, his views, Mr. Morgan shares in the profits."

Tarbox pointed at the sheet of newspaper in Fesler's hand. "You saw it, Mr. Fesler, and you didn't see anyone else on the street, not you, not me Mr. Morgan was the only man in this town with the courage to go outside—and do something."

Fesler nodded reluctantly. "Perhaps you're right. Very well, Mr. Morgan, stay, but we trust you will treat as confidential anything that transpires here."

Morgan shook his head. "I don't feel that I can make that promise at present. I had better go. If you feel inclined to tell me anything later, I will listen, but I cannot guarantee to keep it confidential."

He nodded and started for the door. The three businessmen watched him go. Fesler on the faces of Buffington and Tarbox, the newspaperman frowning.

'Written on the Wind' Great Drama With Four Star Cast

Magnificent drama comes to the screen of the Saenger theater Sunday, with the opening of "Written on the Wind," Universal-International production in Technicolor boasting a star-studded cast headed by Rock Hudson, Lauren Bacall, Robert Stack and Dorothy Malone.

The story is a dynamic study of a man who becomes incapable of living happily with his young wife. His conflict with his best friend, who loves his wife without admitting it, makes this one of the most compelling emotional stories to hit the screen this year.

As the silent admirer of Lauren Bacall, his friends bride, Rock Hudson turns in another telling performance in a growing list of hit dramatic roles which keep him at the pinnacle of Hollywood stardom.

Hudson's compelling dramatic ability, combined with the quiet charm which first made him a bobby-sox idol, makes his romantic scenes with Miss Bacall among the most poignant of the season.

Miss Bacall is at her best in the part of a sophisticated woman who attracts all types of men and her svelte beauty enhances the hard-hitting emotional sequences.

Stack makes the most out of the best acting opportunity of his career. His portrayal of the profigate heir to a vast oil empire is definitely of Academy Award stature. As an intelligent young man of weak character, Stack brings a psychotic of the most futile kind to the screen.

There probably has never been a more abandoned creature portrayed on the screen than that played by Dorothy Malone as Stack's sister whose mind is on one thing only, men, and on one man in particular, Rock Hudson. Her characterization of the wanton daughter of wealth and leisure makes her another likely candidate for Academy Award consideration.

The film was masterfully directed by Douglas Sirk, who has a particular aptitude for bringing out the best in Rock Hudson, as proven by his direction of "Magnificent Obsession" and "All That Heaven Allows." The brilliant production values evident in the picture are the contribution of Producer Albert Zugsmith. Based upon the novel by Robert Wilder, the moving and exciting script was penned by George Zuckerman.

UN Rejects Debate on Ike's Plan

UNITED NATION, N. Y. (AP) The U. N. Steering Committee today rejected a Soviet demand for a General Assembly debate on the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine and other U. S. "aggressive actions."

Despite the declared willingness of the United States to have the Soviet complaint aired, the 16-nation committee decided against the proposed debate Feb. 8.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. called Russia's complaint a "gigantic cock and bull story."

Lodge addressed the U. N. Steering Committee after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov had demanded urgent action to prevent the threat of a new world war which he said was stemming from U. S. policies.

The U. S. delegate said he would not oppose a full airing of the Soviet charges in the 80-nation General Assembly. He countered with a sharp attack on Soviet actions in Hungary, the Middle East and other parts of the world.

test they didn't imagine he'd drive

Police said he struck three cars department during part of the ex-

Examiners said Rigby didn't come back to finish the test.

Black Takes Lead in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A couple of fellows who haven't shared a dime on the winter tour and an old campaigner playing on borrowed time led the $20,000 Texas Open into its second round today.

On top was Joe Black, Abilene,
Tex., who ripped Brackenridge Park's 6,400 yards for a 7-under par 64 yesterday while some of the biggest guns of the links trail faltered badly.

A stroke back was Bob Kay, West Hartford, Conn who plays the tour only in the winter. Tied with Kay was the veteran Ed Furgol, who has won plenty in his career but right now is fighting time and a ripping arm muscle.

Furgol hurt the arm in 1954 but has continued to play. He knows he will have to drop out any day now and have it sewed up but he's not about to stoop until forced to.

Ironically, it's his right arm,
not his withered left arm.

Black, former assistant professional at the Abilene Country Club and who once was a star player at Hardin-Simmons University, is making the tour for the second time. The 23-year-old shot-maker never has finished in the money and has earned this winter only $57 in a pro-amateur at Tucum-phac.

Brooklyn May Have That New Catcher

By JACK HAND
HAVANA — Brooklyn's long search for a "new Campanella"
may have ended in John Rose-boro, a young man from Ashland, Ohio, who is drawing rave notices from Caribbean baseball scouts.

Roseboro, only 23, hit .338 with Caracas in the Venezuela Winter League and competed in the Caribbean series against Cuba, Puerto Rico and Panama. Last year, he was a .273 hitter with 25 home runs at Montreal.

"Roseboro is the No. 1 prospect I've seen any place," said Mickey Owen, who managed Mayaguez, the Puerto Rican League champion. "He can do all things big-ry, hit and throw.

"Sure he can be another Campanella. He can do things Campanella can't do right now. He can run like an outfielder and on top of everything else, he's a left-handed hitter. That's something everybody needs, a left-handed hitter. That's something everybody needs, a left-handed hitting catcher with power.

"If he was a free agent, I'd give $100,000 just to sign him up."
Owen, of course, has no chance to sign Roseboro, who is headed for the Dodgers camp at Vero Beach, Fla. The Dodgers still currently Roseboro on the Portland roster in the Pacific Coast League
but that's just for bookkeeping purposes.
